

Telephone Components - Handsets

Handset Type K (Standard & Heavy Duty Versions)

Standard K Handset - The “K” handset is a robust handset originally designed by AT&T in the USA, and was commonly used in offices and home telephone environment. The standard handset is made of durable ABS and the colour can be specified by the customer request. It is normally available with a curly cord.

Heavy Duty K Handset – The heavy duty “k” Handset is available in a solid heavy-duty plastic with specifications as follows

- Handset moulding produced from a flame retardant plastic
- Handset colour black although it can optionally also be supplied in various colours
- Cable entry grommet produced from flame retardant plastic
- Cord typically armoured tube produced from type 302 Stainless Steel. Curly cord option.
- Optional elbow fixings available.
- Equipment wire produced from colour coded, PTFE insulated, stranded copper wire.
- Weight = 600grms.
- Dimensions approx. - Length 210mm, Width 55mm.